

Pocono Lake Youngster Smothered By Falling Sand In Pit

Child Found By Brother, Playmate

Pocono Lake—Falling sand smothered a 10-year-old boy here yesterday while his brother, unaware, was within earshot.

The boy, Charles Albert Christie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Christie, met his silent death in a sand pit about a half mile from his home.

Earlier he had been playing with his brother, John, 12, and a neighbor's child, Wilson Bonser, 11, at the Christie home.

About 2 p. m. the boys asked Mrs. Christie's permission to visit the sand pit.

She gave it, but asked them to return at 4 p. m.

At the pit, the boys played until John fell into a mud puddle. The boys decided to build a fire to dry John's clothing.

While John and Wilson Bonser sat before the fire, Charles went back into the pit to play alone.

Time passed, John's clothing dried. The two friends called to Charles.

There was no answer. Climbing back into the pit, the two boys began to search for him. They spotted Charles' feet protruding from beneath a pile of sand at one side of the pit wall.

He had apparently dug a cave into the wall, and was partially inside it when the upper portion collapsed.

John and Wilson flung the sand aside with their hands until they could pull Charles from beneath the pile.

John Christie ran for help while the Bonser boy remained at the pit.

When Dr. James Kitchen arrived from Pocono Lake, he was unable to revive the child. Charles died of suffocation, he said, about 4 p. m.

Services will be at the Christie home at 2 p. m. Thursday, with burial at Pocono Lake cemetery. Officiating will be Rev. Lane Weller, pastor of the Pocono Lake Methodist church.

Viewing will be at the Christie residence Wednesday night.

Surviving, besides his parents and brother John, are another brother, Thomas James Christie, two sisters, Mrs. Clinton Simpson, Pocono Lake, and Mrs. Charles Morris, Bangor, Md.; and a grandfather, John Franks, Pocono Pines.

One Military Area Founded

Fort Meade, Md. (AP) — Establishment of a single military district headquarters for the state of Pennsylvania at Indianopolis Gap military reservation was announced yesterday by Lt. Gen. Edward H. Brooks, commanding general of the Second Army.

The new headquarters will combine administrative activities which have been carried on by the Pennsylvania military district office in Philadelphia and the western Pennsylvania sub-district Pittsburgh office.

Gen. Brooks designated Col. George V. Sotting, acting chief of the two state offices, as acting chief of the new headquarters. The consolidation is effective 8 a.m. September 10, according to the army announcement.

Since 1946 when military districts for each state in the second army area were set up, Pennsylvania has been the only one of seven states in the area to operate two military district establishments. The army said the creation of a single headquarters was decided upon for "more economical and efficient administration."

Czechoslovakia, Poland Offer To Purchase Oil

Tehran, Iran, (AP) — Deputy Premier Hossain Fatimi said last night Communist-led Poland and Czechoslovakia have offered to buy Iran's nationalized oil on a cash and carry basis.

The amounts mentioned by Fatimi as prospective Polish and Czechoslovak purchases, however, are regarded here only as a drop in the bucket compared with the amounts exported by the Anglo-Iranian oil company before the nationalization dispute shut down its production.

Fatimi said Poland offered to buy 700,000 tons of crude oil and Czechoslovakia 500,000. Total production in Iran last year, before nationalization, was 31,000,000 tons.

Fatimi told newsmen Iran would take "firm action" to sell oil wherever it can unless the British reply soon to an Iranian settlement proposal which he said had been ignored by British negotiators.

Labor Day Traffic Fatality Record Certain

Eleven Nations Agree On Program

By Robert Euston
San Francisco, (AP)—President Truman arrived here yesterday and rode past the opera house where tonight he will open the 51-nation peace conference for Japan.

Two hours after the President's plane touched the ground, 11 key nations reached an agreement on a set of rules for the conference procedure.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who had spent most of the day in last minute efforts to block any move the Russians might make toward stalling the proceedings, met Mr. Truman at the airport.

The 11 key nations who agreed along general lines to follow Acheson's suggestions for rules of order met in the U. S. delegation headquarters.

Kenneth Younger, British minister of state, presided at the informal meeting. Other nations represented were Australia, Canada, Ceylon, France, Indonesia, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, and the United States.

Younger said later "the meeting reached general agreement on procedure with the people who were there. But as you see it was not a fully representative group."

All 11 of the nations present are members of the Far Eastern commission for Japan. A majority of them must sign and ratify the treaty. Russia, who also is a member of the commission, was not present and obviously was not invited.

It generally was believed the rules agreed upon called for limiting speeches to one hour, with five minutes allowed for a reply if any delegate is questioned.

The tough set of rules also would forbid amendments to the present draft of the treaty.

Acheson has been afraid the Russians might try to stall the meetings with lengthy oratory and ask for revisions.

During the afternoon Younger called on Premier Shigeru Yoshida of Japan, who arrived here yesterday. Yoshida last night discussed his country's planned security pact with the United States, to take effect once the occupation ends.

Members of the American delegation met for an hour yesterday after the other ten nations had left U. S. headquarters. A member of the group said "everyone is pleased with the situation as it now stands."

Apparently the U. S. had been assured of enough support to hold the conference to signature formalities.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman arrived last night, along with Henri Bonnet, French ambassador to the United States.

Schuman said he would propose no changes in the treaty. A spokesman for the U. S. delegation said that so far there was no draft of the separate pact the United States is planning to sign with Japan. The pact would provide for keeping American troops in Japan until the defeated power can defend herself again.

Twenty-Two Cars Leave Track

South Bend, Ind. (AP)—Twenty-two meat laden refrigerator cars of a New York Central freight train were derailed yesterday on the West side of South Bend.

A South Bend Tribune reporter said several cars burst open and drooling citizens carried off choice cuts of beef and pork.

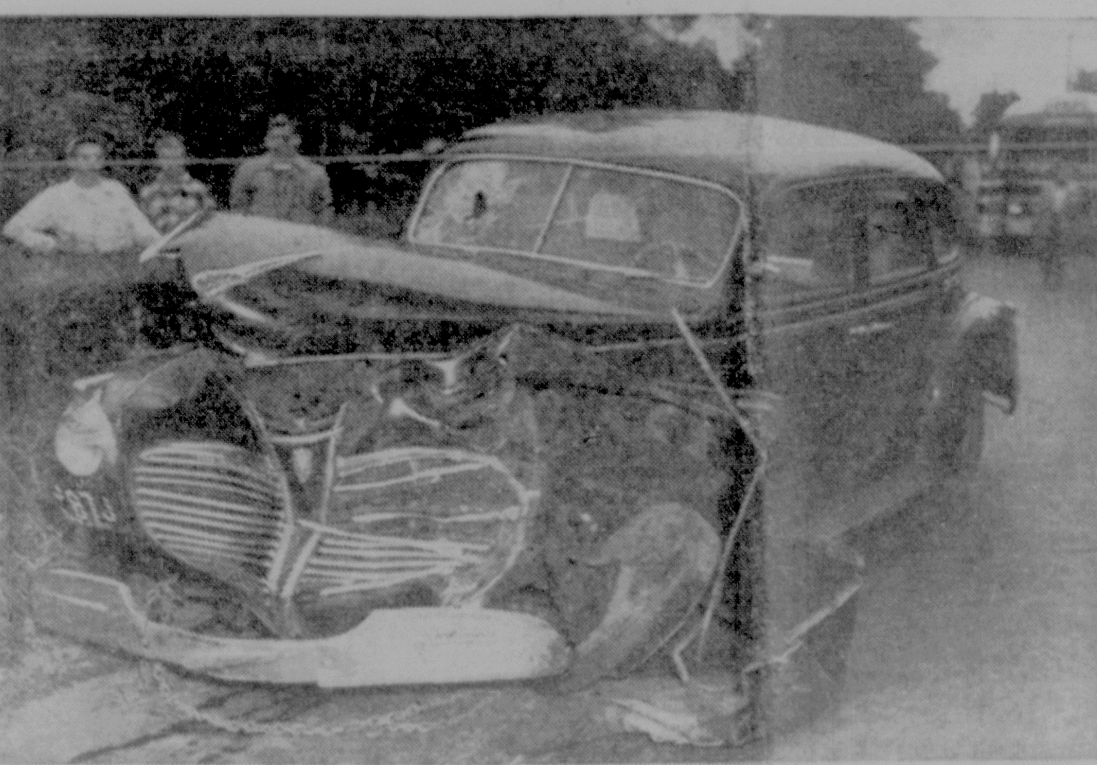

The derailment blocked traffic on the New York Central main line and traffic was re-routed through Kankakee, Ill. Four wrecking crews were put to work clearing the tracks.

Local New York Central officials would not say whether the cause of the derailment was known.

Reporters Have Occupational Difficulties

Orange, Tex. (AP) — A reporter for the Orange Leader said he had to swim the Sabine River fully clothed early yesterday to escape after being attacked by a bouncer for a night club which he had criticized for allowing gambling.

Reporter Joe Parsley, 27, who was punched in the nose by the bouncer, said the night club is just across the river in Louisiana and is owned by Claude Williams. Parsley had criticized the place

Secretary Of Labor Praises American Workers For Not Succumbing To Lure Of Communism

(By the Associated Press)
American workers won the praise of Secretary of Labor on their Labor Day holiday yesterday for not succumbing to the lure of Communism.

They have never been moved by Communism's "idea of class conflict, and it's a safe bet they never will," Tobin said in a radio address.

Tobin headed a long list of Labor Day speakers across the nation on the traditional holiday as millions of Americans enjoyed the long weekend with trips to woods and beaches and ball parks, or just rested.

Hurricane Shifts Course To Threaten Battered Jamaica

Miami, Fla., (AP)—The hurricane in the Caribbean Sea shifted its course last night and pounded directly toward the already storm-battered British Island of Jamaica.

Unless the tropical twister again changes its direction during the night, the Miami weather bureau said it likely will slam into Jamaica in mid-morning today, covering the same ground where 150 persons died in a hurricane last month.

The most immediate threat was to the southern coasts of the Dominican Republic and Haiti. Hurricane warnings were hoisted there at 6 p. m. (EDT).

Winds in the northern semicircle of the hurricane were expected to strike a glancing blow at these coasts in the next few hours.

The center of the hurricane was located at 5 p. m. about 130 miles south-southeast of Cago Beata, on the southernmost tip of the Dominican Republic. Winds of 100 miles an hour velocity whirled around the center.

Winds of hurricane force extended 125 miles to the north and 40 miles to the south of the eye of the storm. Gales reached out many miles farther.

The storm was moving on a northwesterly course at 20 to 25 miles an hour and gradually growing in size and intensity.

Transportation Workers Strike

Youngstown, O. (AP)—A strike by Transportation Department employees had stopped nearly all production yesterday at Republic Steel's big Youngstown works.

Republic's coke plant was the only department in operation and nearly 9,500 production employees were idle. The firm said it was losing production at the rate of 6,500 tons of ingots daily.

The transportation workers, affiliated with the CIO United Steelworkers, set up picket lines Sunday in protest of the firing of a trainman.

Williams, asked for comment, said: "Not one word. I don't know anything about it and I don't believe it happened."

Later Williams told the Leader Parsley was slugged by a former bouncer who he had discharged.

"I wouldn't have permitted any such thing to happen," the Leader quoted Williams as saying. "I wouldn't stand for my employees doing that sort of thing."

"The result of the democracy that unions bring to American industry has not been greater strife but greater stability."

Many union leaders took occasion in Labor Day talks to blast Congress for refusing to do all the things the unions want done.

One of these was William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor. He charged in a nationwide broadcast (NBC) that a "coalition of reactionary Republicans and Democrats in Congress is following the policy of seeking the poor and sparing the rich."

Moscow's Press Gives Hint To Conference

by Eddy Gilmore

Moscow, (AP) — Moscow's press hinted yesterday that the Soviet Union will not attempt to hamstring the San Francisco Japanese peace conference, but will make every attempt to get its own views on the settlement into the records and before the world.

The indication was that the Soviet delegates would demand enough time to make their points—and possibly their counter-proposals—and then let it go at that. They may even offer a draft of a peace treaty for the consideration of the conference.

The people of Communist China now have been told that the American draft of the Japanese treaty is likely to be carried at San Francisco, and the Soviet press recorded this.

The press also carried an exchange of greetings between Prime Minister Stalin and Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung. In which the Soviet prime minister referred to the Soviet-Chinese alliance as "unbreakable."

The occasion for the exchange was the sixth anniversary of the defeat of Japan in World War II.

The effect of the published exchange was to give the distinct impression that it was the Soviet Army, aided by the Chinese, which defeated Japan, and to underscore the provisions of the Soviet-Chinese treaty which call for intervention if either should be attacked by Japan "or any forces allied with Japan."

(The publication of this exchange on the eve of the San Francisco conference indicates that the Soviet Union has brought up its biggest propaganda guns in an effort to turn Asians against the western nations, particularly the United States. The sixth anniversary of the end of the Pacific war—which Soviet Russia joined six days before Japan's surrender—offered a good excuse for the exchange of messages with Mao's Communist regime.)

Moose Hold Convention

Reading, Pa. (AP) — A crowd estimated at 15,000 persons gathered to watch a parade march over a three-mile route at the end of the fourteenth convention of the Eastern Division of the Pennsylvania Moose Association.

Baby Taken From Well By Rescuers

Newberg, Ore. (AP)—A blonde, two-year-old girl trapped in a narrow well shaft 12 feet below the ground, was rescued late yesterday after four hours of frantic digging.

The child, Marie Ann Payne, was conscious when rescuers brought her up to daylight at 6:13 p. m. (PDT). Her father, Elvin Payne, stayed beside the hole most of the afternoon, reassuring her: "You'll be okay now in a few minutes."

The mishap recalled the case of Kathy Fiscus, three, who was found dead in a well pipe at San Marino, Calif., in April, 1949, after rescuers had worked for 52 straight hours.

Marie fell into the hole, only eight inches in diameter, while playing yesterday afternoon with her nine-year-old sister, Fern, and a brother, Lester, three. Fern said she started toward the house and suddenly heard Marie crying. She turned around and when she couldn't see Marie, ran to the 22 foot hole. There she saw the little girl lodged inside about 12 feet down.

A neighbor, Arthur Linden, rushed to the scene and threw a rope down the hole. Police and firemen were summoned and rescue operations started.

Oxygen was pumped down the hole as rescuers sank a shaft nearby. Their digger would not dig more than ten feet deep. State police raced to Sheridan, 32 miles away, and brought back another digger.

With it, the shaft, three by four feet, was sunk to a depth of 14 feet. Rescuers then carefully shoved a steel rod across into the well hole at the point where they thought the girl was lodged.

She called to her father at the top of the hole that the rod had touched her. He relayed the information to the rescue crew. They tunneled through two feet of earth to reach her.

When brought to the surface, the lower half of the child's body was covered with thick mud. L. W. Hawkins, acting police chief, who directed the rescue effort, said the girl was waist deep in water throughout the afternoon.

An estimated 500 people had collected to watch the rescue.

The girl slipped into "a state of shock" when she was brought to the top, Dr. C. A. Bump reported. He said she suffered no ill effects other than being chilled and shocked. Penicillin injections were begun immediately to ward off pneumonia.

A half hour after arriving at the hospital she drank a half bottle of milk that her mother had brought along.

The well had been dug recently by Payne. No casing pipe had been installed.

Flames Sweep Armory Building

Binghamton, N.Y. (AP) — An armory used as quarters for a state institute was in ruins yesterday, but a search was started immediately for space and equipment to resume classes.

Flames early yesterday roared through the three-story brick structure housing the institute of applied arts and sciences. One fireman was killed and four others were injured, seriously.

Classes were to start September 10 at the institute, a unit of the State University system. The loss was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars. All of the institute's laboratory and electrical equipment was destroyed.

In Albany, Charles H. Foster, business assistant to the State U. president, said that a hunt for new quarters would be launched immediately.

One Motorist Died Every Few Minutes

Motorists were dying at the rate of one about every 11 minutes as the nation drew near the end of the three-day Labor Day celebration. A new traffic fatality record for the period was a certainty.

With homeward bound traffic still at its peak last night, the traffic death toll for 72 hours since 6 p.m. Friday had mounted to a near record of 405 accidental highway deaths.

The previous record for the same days was 410 deaths in 1949.

Allied Leaders Hold Top Secret Meeting

By William C. Barnard

Tokyo, Tuesday, (AP) — Allied leaders conferred secretly today and the Reds ranted publicly over the Korean crisis at Kaesong.

Afraid, the Koreans war roared into savage fighting on one front.

In Tokyo, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander, conferred for two hours behind closed doors with the chief Allied truce negotiator, Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy.

In Peiping, the Red China radio cracked the air ways with three blistering statements of the Red chief negotiator, north Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il. The statements rejected and ridiculed Joy's recent denials that Allied planes and troops violated the Kaesong neutral zone.

Nowhere was there any sign that the Kaesong talks, broken off Aug. 23 by the Reds, might be resumed.

Fighting in Korea was the heaviest since last May. One battle swayed, with few interruptions, from 2:30 a. m. Monday until the early hours of Tuesday. The Reds drove Allied defenders off a ridge. Then the Allies began fighting their way back.

Joy's two hour conference with Ridgway opened at the supreme Allied commander's Dai Ichi hotel at 8:30 a. m. (5:30 p. m. EST Monday).

Joy arrived in Tokyo last night with two of his negotiators, Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke and Maj. Gen. L. C. Craigie.

Tension in Korea and Tokyo was reported unmatched since the attempt to arrange a cease-fire began July 10.

Communist fighter planes swooped out of the clouds and bombed and strafed Allied ground troops in six attacks on the East-Central front. It was the first Red attack by more than one plane and it whipped up fresh rumors of enemy plans for an all-out offensive.

On the ground, Allied troops on the East-Central front stormed up two vital heights and routed the Reds from their last stronghold on the line north of the punchbowl, where fierce battles were fought before the truce talks started.

There was a single note of optimism. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, United Nations ground commander, said at Eighth Army headquarters that he believed the Reds would settle for the present battle-line as the cease-fire zone if the truce talks are resumed.

When the talks broke off, the Communists were insisting that the 38th parallel be made the cease-fire line. The battle line extends 25 to 30 miles into North Korea in the East.

Protestant Bishop To Campaign For President's Office

New York, (AP) — Protestant Bishop Homer A. Tomlinson ended a 21-day fast at breakfast yesterday. An hour later he set out on a nationwide campaign tour which he hopes will make him the next President of the United States.

Atop the clergymen's 1942 sedan stretched a three-by-six-foot banner reading:

"Choose a man of God for United States President in 1952."

"The Kingdom come. Thy will be done on Earth."

The car will carry the Bishop and his wife, Marie, on a 60-day speaking tour through 42 states, appearing chiefly before groups of ministers.

Narrowly Miss Injury

Camden, N.J. (AP) — An Air Force B-17 bomber swerved from a concrete runway as it landed at Camden Central Airport yesterday when a tire blew out. The plane came within 300 feet of sweeping into Crescent Boulevard which was jammed with hundreds of cars. None of the five men aboard the plane was injured.

Bad Weather Curtails Expected Labor Day Traffic In Area

Delaware Bridge Lists Biggest Day

Labor Day traffic out of metropolitan New Jersey and New York, feeding across the Columbia and Delaware, N. J. bridges into this region of Pennsylvania rolled to around 55,000 cars at a late hour last night.

A chill sweep of weather which tumbled the mercury early Saturday afternoon, then turned to rain and more chill weather through yesterday, did much to cut down the continuity of the traffic and caused the tourist variety of traveler to break off and head back home.

Late last Friday and early Saturday with the weather clear and temperatures high the movement rose to greatest peak.

Traffic checkers at the Delaware, N. J. bridge said better than 12,000 vehicles crossed that structure Saturday for the heaviest day of 1951. It failed to match some previous records, including last year's however, largely because of the sudden and discouraging change of weather.

Old wooden bridge at Columbia bore a very heavy and fairly consistent flow of traffic starting with last Friday.

Checkers said 4,134 vehicle crossed the bridge Friday. The Saturday count rose to 4,510. Sunday, despite continued inclement weather the volume was 4,129 and last night, bolstered by those breaking up a three-day holiday, the count was 5,050.

At Delaware, traffic counters said it must be noted that the 12,000 vehicles were swelled by the Army convoy which rolled across the bridge.

The traffic jam through Delaware Water Gap, over Foxtown Hill and through Stroudsburg was traditional Saturday the line of cars stretched from Stroudsburg traffic lights back through Delaware Water Gap.

Early last night cars waited in line for nearly an hour to break across the river. Several broke out, turned around and came back to Stroudsburg seeking another river crossing.

Many of these people were directed via Route 90 to Bangor and thence to the Belvidere, N. J. bridge.

Had Saturday morning's weather maintained, police said the tremendous traffic flow of Saturday could have lasted over a longer period.

Influx of people into the Pocono Mountains was not confined to pleasure cars.

Both Greyhound and Maritz lines boosted their bus service with extra sections. These were supplemented by numerous scenic bus runs or charter trips from the metropolitan centers.

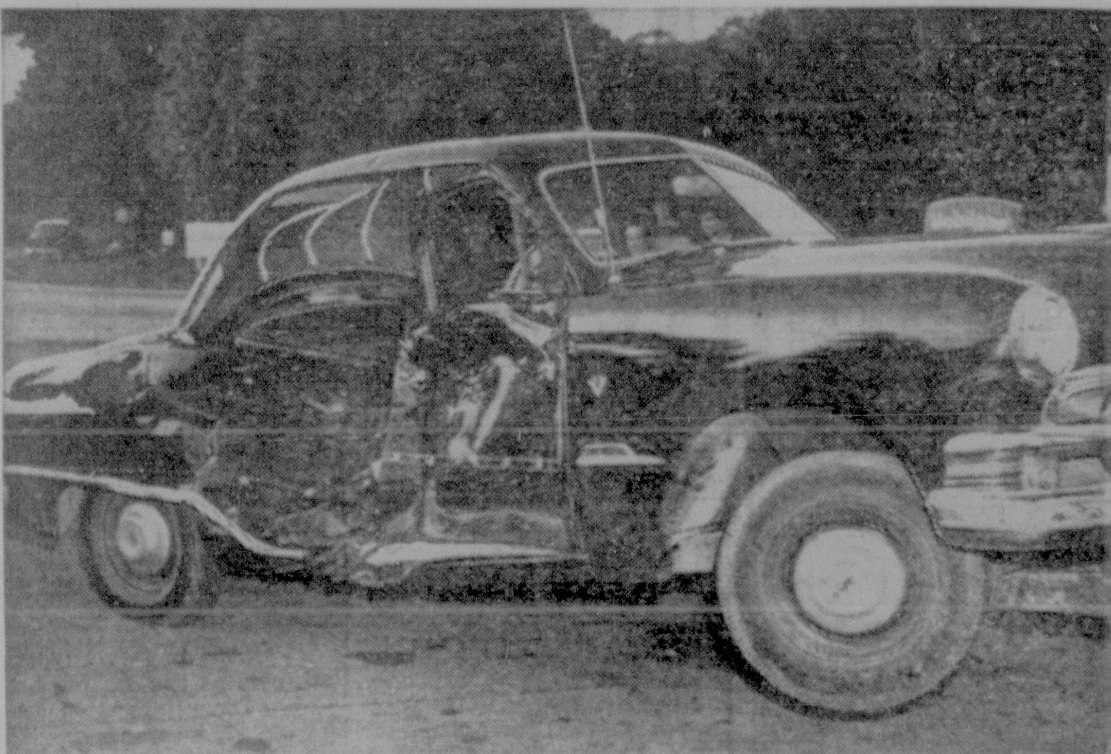

The Lackawanna Railroad, carrying capacity loads, ran extra cars and sections on all of its major passenger runs into this region Friday and Saturday.

Millionaire Throws Party For Rich Set

by Alburt D. West

Venice, Italy (AP)—The mysterious Mexican-born millionaire of Venice threw a $50,000 palace-warming masquerade party last night for the titled and wealthy of three continents.

The eighteenth century-style extravaganza was guarded by the greatest police turnout seen here since wartime.

Some of the top notables invited stayed away with regrets or disdain.

The dapper, monocled host, Don Carlos De Bestegui, turned out in a jewel-decked black eighteenth century governor's costume to greet his gondola-borne guests at his doorstep on the Grand Canal.

The International Ermine and Coronet set began arriving at the lantern-lit gondola landing at 10 p. m., an hour earlier than the 3,000 invitations had specified for the kickoff.

They came in everything from lion skins to coffins to help Don Carlos with his house-warming.

Close to 1,000 police and carabinieri guarded against riot or disorder in this city of many unemployed and much Communism.

Don Carlos appeared at a balcony window and waved to big crowds of curious Venetians gathered outside. He was cheered and hissed.

A solid phalanx of carabinieri, shoulder to shoulder, five rows deep, lined the two land sides of the palace. White-capped city police, six feet apart, formed a row for blocks down a nearby side-street called "the Shanghai of Venice" because it leads through a rough district.

Among the invited who stayed away were Winston Churchill, Irene Dunne, Perle Mesta and the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

One of the first to arrive was the Aga Khan, wearing a jeweled oriental potentate costume. His wife also was lavishly costumed.

American film star Gene Tierney came in a $16 peasant costume.

Barbara Hutton showed up in a Paris creation of black lace and sequins resembling a Venetian Knight's costume. It reportedly cost her $15,000.

The city government cooperated reluctantly. It supplied 500 policemen—many decked out in eighteenth century costumes—to make sure there was no troublesome protest against the highly publicized extravaganza. Venice has a high unemployment rate and a strong Communist party.

House Committee To Return To Tax Program At Harrisburg

Harrisburg, (AP)—The wearisome task of drafting a $138,000,000 tax program will be taken up again today by a special House committee.

The committee, headed by Speaker Herbert P. Sarg (R-Elk), has been assigned to come up with a compromise tax plan by the time the Legislature reconvenes September 17 for a final try at solving the tax deadlock.

Sarg said the committee will receive data today from the Justice and Revenue departments on the possibility of imposing a tax on unincorporated businesses.

The Justice department was asked last week at the end of three days of meetings to look at the unincorporated business tax in relation to a constitutional requirement that taxes be uniform upon the same class of subjects.

The committee has in mind the possibility of skirting the constitution in fixing exemptions from such a tax.

Although a dollar and cents exemption is admittedly impossible under the constitution, Sarg said, the committee would like to exempt professions such as doctors, lawyers and engineers.

The unincorporated business tax proposal has been favorably received by committee as a means of equalizing the tax burden which 31 upon the insistence of Gov. John S. Fine. It produced $27,000,000 in revenue in the Commonwealth's two-year fiscal period.

Some 20 other imposts are also under consideration by the committee, including the Senate's proposal for six taxes to replace the discarded one-half of one per cent income tax.

Pittsburgh (AP)—Pittsburgh Steel company officially took over the Thomas Steel company of Warren, Ohio, during the weekend. The Thomas Steel company will be operated as the Thomas Strip division of Pittsburgh Steel. E. M. Barber, former Thomas president, will be executive vice president and director of Pittsburgh Steel company.

Wayne County Dentist Dies

Newfoundland—Word was received here yesterday that Dr. Gordon Kizer, practicing dentist in this community, had died very suddenly after an attack of virus pneumonia while traveling through Ohio.

Dr. Kizer, whose home is in Lake Ariel, operated an office here one day each week for the past 25 years. He was on his annual summer vacation tour of one month with a trailer trip to the West. He was accompanied by his wife. They have no children.

Legend has it that the kangaroo's name comes from a native phrase meaning "I don't know", given in reply to the white man who asked the name of the strange animal.

The office of Dr. E. J. Dening will be closed Aug. 27th to Sept. 5th.—Adv.

Rustine Rites Held At Appenzell

Appenzell—Services were held yesterday at St. Mark's Union church here for Mrs. Susanna Rustine, 84, who died Thursday at her home here.

Officiating was Rev. Garnett Zimmerman. Burial was at Appenzell cemetery.

Gambling With Lives

Gov. John S. Fine said an important mouthful the other night in a speech at Indiantown Gap.

He said the Korean peace talks have brought about "extreme public indifference" to the peril faced by the United States.

He said a godless nation, obviously Russia, "is wholly untrustworthy and will not live peacefully in the assembly of free nations."

"We must realistically begin to build our civil defenses now—tomorrow may be too late" he said.

"We cannot put our reliance upon a paper organization and then sit idly back and wait for the bombs to fall. If we fail we are gambling with human lives . . ."

The Governor was urging civil defense workers to oppose any cut in his proposed $20,000,000 appropriation for civil defense activities. We fail to see why that sum is invaluable, considering the condition of the State's finances and the fact that you cannot buy complete protection from atom bombing.

His point about public indifference still is well taken, however. Much more could be done, without great expense, to prepare cities for the possibility of bombing. Much more could be done to speed up the building of the nation's defenses.

Russia's actions all point to the possibility — perhaps probability—of a shown-down war. Polls indicate that the majority of Americans expect such a war.

Yet the majority of Americans act as though the nation were in no greater peril than a plague of seven-year locusts.

A war could come today . . . tomorrow . . . next week. Everyone hopes that it won't. All efforts will be made to avoid it. But there certainly is enough danger to call for sensible precautions.

Louisiana Railroad

Five newspapermen and three civic leaders in Lake Charles, La., have been indicted in what obviously is a rank perversion of law and decency.

The newspapermen are publishers, editors and reporters on the Lake Charles American Press which has been carrying on a campaign against crime in Calcasieu Parish, or county.

The civic leaders are members of a citizens' group which has been digging up evidence on the parish rackets.

These men are accused of "defaming" three confessed racketeers and a number of public officials without whose indifference, to say the least, the rackets could not have flourished.

Senator Estes Kefauver, former chairman of the Senate Crime Committee, said one of the "defamed" gamblers was well known to the committee and praised the Lake Charles paper for its work.

"If there is any attempt to railroad the newspapermen," the Senator said, "you can bet your life Congress will investigate."

Not only Congress, but the whole American public, should be outraged at this blatant attempt to breach the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press.

Tyrants and political gangsters all over the world are snuffing out the public right to truth.

It would be intolerable if a bunch of cheap racketeers and shoddy politicians should get away with it in Free America.

When the courts and juries are corrupted for such purposes, it is, as the leader of the Lake Charles civic group expressed it, "time to choose up sides."

Try And Stop Me

The publishers of Look and Quick boast, in the person of their circulation manager, Abner Sideman, a character who is the spitting image of Oscar Levant. Sideman, in fact, has become so renowned to being mistaken for the irascible pianist and wit that he now signs "Oscar Levant" without a protest to cards and programs thrust under his nose by autograph hunters.

"Tide Magazine tells about a big twist in the usual routine, however when Sideman, stopped in at a neighborhood delicatessen for some pastrami and pumpernickel. The proprietor, peered at him and demanded, 'Don't I know you?' Sideman said wearily, 'Of course you do. I'm Oscar Levant.' 'That's funny,' mused the delicatessen merchant. 'I could have sworn you were a fellow I went to school with—fellow named Ab Sideman!'"

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Own a television set? sniffed Clifton Webb in his loftiest Belvedere tone. "I wouldn't allow one within 50 feet of me!"

"Will future generations be able to converse? They'll cease to think for themselves. It used to be a charming thing to sit around and talk. Now people look and listen. When it's time to go home, they haven't said 'Boo' to each other. But no I find a couple of kindred spirits and say 'to blazes with that. Come on out here, and let's talk.'"

Something like the Kefauver hearings might be interesting to watch. But to sit and look at some picture made 20 years ago!

Webb grinned wryly. "Wrestling—I'd rather watch that in person. I'd rather get out and go to something than squint at television."

Any desire to be on it? "Not the slightest. It isn't pictures, theater, or radio. It's an illegitimate product. It's wonderful for the eye doctor."

Sideline of Sidelines: Charles Bickford estimates his sidelines have grossed $100,000 in the last year. They include an electrical appliance store, a television maintenance service, a telephone-call service, and a hog farm. The latter, near Boston, shipped some 2,500 porkers fattened on Dover garbage.

Retire from acting and live on his profits? "I doubt it," said Bickford, "as long as he comes through with good parts and good money." He and Webb are emulating in a picture called "Elope-ment."

"I'd hate to be dependent on one thing," the canny Irish Yankee explained. "Professional people can't make any money; taxes take it all away."

Nostalgia Notes: At the Mack Sennett alumni reunion, I ran into Babe London, who was a 250-pound player in the old Christie comedies. Now by diet and counting calories, she's down to 152.

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

The Korean Truce

On June 23, Jacob Malik proposed a cease-fire talk relating to the Korean war. Although his proposal of that date was no different from Soviet proposals on October 2 and December 9, Malik's speech was heralded as a break in the war clouds and was puffed up into something very important. Since then, there have been alternate talks, quarrels, break-offs, and fighting has continued.

On June 27, I received a memorandum from a Chinese who foretold much that has happened since. As we all prefer peace to war, I avoided the use of the contents of this document lest I be accused of being a crepe-hanger. However, as the situation has developed, it is clear to me that my Chinese informant was full of understanding. For instance, he wrote me:

"The Malik suggestion is quite similar to the truce proposals Chinese Communists made on the mainland while fighting the government troops. Whenever the Communists were in a militarily dis-advantageous position they always launched a campaign for truce, and appealed to General Marshall, then American mediator, to urge the National government to accept the truce. Thus on V-J Day the Chinese Communists occupied only 67 out of a total of 2,000 counties. Since V-J Day, followed by a year of truce and cease-fire, they have expanded their territories to 319 counties. 'All this in a period during which formal negotiations were supposed to be producing cease-fire agreements and seeking a general settlement.'"

On the other hand, the hands of the National government were tied by the cease-fire agreement reached on January 10, 1946. For instance, in the same month the communication hubs of Chihfeng (Jehol), gateway to Manchuria, and Dolon, gateway to inner Mongolia, were yielded to the Communists upon the advice of the American mediator (General George Marshall). The mediator also tried very hard to restrain the government from attacking Kalgan, the Communist industrial center in North China, and Harbin in Manchuria.

"When the Chinese Communists were strong enough to strike again on the mainland, no cease-fire proposal was ever acceptable to them."

In a word, the Communists use a truce as a weapon to build up their strength for the next battle, depending to a large extent upon the sincerity of the other party. On June 27, my informant wrote that the Soviet Union was equipping and training an international brigade in Manchuria of 250,000 men in addition to fresh Chinese Communist forces. The Soviet needed time to complete this task.

Furthermore, it was, according to him, the desire of Soviet Russia to conduct an active and effective propaganda in Europe and America to slow down the rearmament program, to lessen the need for the Eisenhower army, to give the appearance of a change of policy, to accomplish an unquestioned repudiation of General Douglas MacArthur and his Far Eastern policies. Therefore there had to be an appearance of an approach to peace.

Conversations leading to the liquidation of the Korean war would give the impression of peace in the offing and would therefore accomplish all these purposes. "Factors of uncertainty" have long been a Soviet weapon, the idea being that as long as the western world is con-

My New York

New York—I suppose when all is said and done, Waxey Gordon never really belonged up there in the top flight of the Roaring Twenties hoodlums. He was of the same era as Dutch Schultz, Owney Madden, Larry Fay, Vincent Coll and Legs Diamond, and while Waxey got the same kind of glorified publicity they did, he never seemed to operate with the same aboriginal majesty they did. He seemed plain stupid at times, such as when he was picked up in 1947 as an alleged fence for stolen watches, and other times he hit rock bottom, such as in 1940 when he was discovered living in a two-buck hotel on 97th street after he did a seven-year hitch in Leavenworth for tax evasion.

Nevertheless, it was startling to pick up the paper the other day and learn that Waxey had been discovered by the Feds sitting in the back seat of an automobile in midtown Manhattan with a pound of heroin in his lap.

Waxey has been connected with the dope racket before, and for my money that alone makes him eligible for a few hours on the rack or, at the very least, hanging by the thumbs, but always they had talked of him as a "craz" in the racket. To be caught with a sack of dream dust in his hands put him right in the class with a street-corner pusher. The miserable specimen of humanity probably qualifies as the dumbest big-time hood in history.

Gordon's reappearance in the headlines brings to mind another of his adventures, along somewhat more legitimate lines. This was back in the prohibition era, when, like a lot of other rich thugs, he got into show business for the first time.

An old friend of Waxey's was a musical producer named Lew Brown—they grew up together—and when Brown staged a show called Strike Me Pink, Waxey became an angel. He plunked a reported $300,000 into the revue, and by the time it finished its out-of-town tour and came into Broadway, it was still out $180,000 of the original cost, with slim prospects for clicking and making up the deficit. "Names," Brown muttered to Waxey one day, "—that's what we need."

"Names?" Gordon asked. "The telephone book's full of them." Patiently Brown explained he meant "big" names, and cited Jimmy Durante as an example. But Durante had movie commitments in Hollywood.

"Dough can buy actors or anybody," Waxey said with almost but not complete truth. He sent Lew to Hollywood—but movie producer Irving Thalberg said he couldn't spare Durante. Brown long-distantly Gordon, and broke the bad news. "Who's this Thalberg?" Waxey demanded over the phone from New York. Brown explained that he was the biggest man in Hollywood at the moment.

"Well," Waxey said, "if he's that big, what do we want with this Durante? Get this Thalberg."

Later, after being told Thalberg was not a performer but a manager and women. "Pasta" foods—spaghetti, noodles and other macaroni-base preparations—are plentiful. Wine flows freely, and cheaply. Sidewalk cafes and hole-in-the-wall wine shops are doing an excellent business.

Communism, of course, still is a threat. I saw in many, many places the hammer-and-sickle sign drawn on walls or billboards—in cities and in the countryside, too. The Communies showed considerable strength in last spring's municipal elections, roughly retaining what offices they held before. But many Italian observers feel that they would fare far less well in an election for national offices.

These observers contend that while the people might be willing to vote for their Communist friend or neighbor for a local municipal government office where they could keep a close eye on him, they would not be willing to vote that same Communist into a national office where he would have a direct bearing on the country's national policies.

The Once Over

Thoughts On Labor Day

Labor Day is the day when we all work harder and put in longer hours without complaint. It is really a day when nobody rests or takes it easy. If the activities on the highways of America on Labor Day do not come under the classification of toil, what does? It is a holiday of blood, sweat and LEERS. Originally set aside as a testimonial to the working man, it has become a gigantic demonstration of physical exhaustion.

What happens to the worker on the day set aside for his rest and glorification? He gets up earlier than usual by a couple of hours and eagerly plans a day of terrific pressure, confusion, physical effort and general uncertainty as to hours. He knows he is in for the 12-hour day and probably an 8-hour night.

As for money he knows he will be economically knocked to a fare-the-well. He realizes he will be overcharged, shoved around, yelled at, put upon, bumped, elbowed and abused in heavy traffic. Outraged should the boss raise his voice at him on the job, he will take excommunications and abuse from strangers all day on from strangers all day on from the open road. He will endure glares and fierce looks from fellow motorists that he wouldn't take from any boss without a walkout. "Gwan, ya bum!" "Aw, get lost!" "Oh, yeah!" "You and who else?" and "How did they come to let you loose with a car?" will be accepted with far less resentment than when the boss in his most polite tones says, "It seems to me you have been getting in late during the past few weeks," or "I can't afford to give you a raise just now."

And the laborer isn't the only one. We all, on every level take punishment on Labor Day and consider we are doing it for our enjoyment. And despite the fact we won't feel rested and fit for work again much before Thursday, Labor Day is the last big holiday out-of-doors. The last chance to lose a fender, battle a hot dog, defy traffic lights, argue with motorcycle cops, bring on a general break-down and act "like crazy." Labor Day would be a day of worthy of the laboring man if it gave him a day of rest and peace and tranquility. It gives him nothing but indigestion, body bruises, repair bills, court fines, "counter pursuits with attack," arguments with the wife and family and probably a call for the tow car.

Labor Day comes too early, anyhow. This year it almost fell in August, when the yen for the open road was at a peak, the highways most congested and half the roads marked "Travel at your own risk." By tradition Labor Day ends the summer, making hotels and beaches close earlier than necessary and without the profit another week or two would bring them. The best weather comes after Labor Day, but nobody cares. When the last tow car tows in the last wrecked sedan on the morning after this holiday, summer is considered officially blitzed, sunk, washed up and buried. It's all pretty cockeyed. But if you drive as if you had brains, observe the traffic rules and behave slightly normal you may get home able to say, "It could be been worse."

Vanishing Americanisms

Twelve Accidents Reported Over Weekend In Monroe County

Damage Estimated At $4,590

Though Labor day traffic in the Poconos was lighter than in previous years, state and borough police reported 12 accidents over the weekend.

Nine persons were injured in the accidents. Number of cars involved was 20. Total damage bill for the weekend was estimated at $4,590.

In the one arrest which resulted, a reckless driver was fined $25.

State police in all four sub-stations said less traffic flowed through the main arteries than had been expected.

Stroudsburg State police investigated seven of the accidents. Brodheadville State police reported two, and Mount Pocono sub-station one. The sub-station at Milford said there had been no accidents at all in their area.

The remaining two accidents were handled by Stroudsburg and Delaware Water Gap police.

Story of the weekend toll follows:

Effort — Henry W. Selzo, 32, Pittsburgh, was injured Saturday when his car left the road and struck a tree three miles north of here.

He was taken to Monroe County General hospital by ambulance for treatment of a dislocated and possibly fractured hip, and a deep forehead cut.

Selzo was driving toward Split Rock on the old Wilkes-Barre highway, Brodheadville State police said, when his car went off a curve about 1:20 a.m. The tree was on the property of Alan Loose, Effort.

Scioto — Arrested after a two-car collision near here Sunday was Arnold E. Valley, 31, Dover, N.J.

His car struck one driven by Wilbur Kelper, 42, Bethlehem, RD1, about 4:30 p.m. on Route 209. The two cars met head-on, causing $150 damage to Valley's auto and $400 damage to the Kelper car.

Valley was taken by Brodheadville State police before Justice of the Peace S. B. Shook, Stroudsburg RD2, and charged with reckless driving by failing to negotiate a curve properly.

He paid a $25 fine.

Mount Pocono — Two adults and an 11-month-old baby were injured when two cars collided Sunday a mile north of here on Route 611.

Charles Roman, 34, one of the drivers, from Clifton, N.J., was treated at Monroe County General hospital for a possible right shoulder fracture.

A passenger, Lillian Wojechowski, 27, of Throop, was also treated at the hospital for forehead cuts and body bruises.

The child, Marcia, was riding in the other car with her father, Alexander Mozeleski, 41, Scranton, driving south. She was treated at the accident scene by a Mount Pocono physician for forehead bruises.

Mount Pocono State police said

Roman tried to make a U-turn at the entrance to the Mount Pocono airport about 9:20 a.m., when his car was struck by Mozeleski's.

Minisink Hills — A car overturned while trying to avoid a collision here at 11 a.m. Sunday on Legislative Road No. 450-58.

The driver, Angelo Opisso, 19, New York, N.Y., told Stroudsburg State police another car passed him too closely. He pulled off to the right, left the road, and the auto turned over. Opisso was uninjured, police said.

Minisink Hills — Louis Scilhimbracco, 41, East Orange, N.J., suffered possible nose and rib fractures when his car skidded into a Greyhound bus here Sunday.

Stroudsburg State police said the bus was just making the turn off Route 612 onto a legislative road when the 11:25 a.m. accident occurred.

A passenger in the auto, Mr. Lucia Scilhimbracco, 39, suffered cuts on the knees and chin. She and her husband were taken to Monroe County General hospital. Police said the auto was traveling behind the bus on paving made slippery by rain. When the bus turned, police said, the car skidded into its side.

Driver of the bus was Robert Hughes, 52, Philadelphia. None of his passengers were injured.

Police set total damage at $550.

Delaware Water Gap — A sedan driven by A. R. Campbell, Rumbold, R. 1, Saturday at 2 p.m., struck a parked car on Route 611 here.

Police Chief Fred Decker said the collision was at 2 p.m., with Campbell driving east. The car, owned by Robert Lehr, Delaware Water Gap, was parked in front of Deerhead Inn. Lehr is owner of the inn.

Total damages were set at $70.

Marshall's Creek — Damages to against a concrete wall by a truck Saturday on Route 402 near here. The truck driver, Edward Gilpin, 23, Milford, driving south, told Stroudsburg State police he was delivering supplies to Pocono Highland Camp. As he swung wide to make the turn into the camp road, the other car tried to pass him on the right.

The other car, driven by Eugene Uhorchack, 39, Woodlynne, N. J., was squeezed against the concrete wall at the entrance as the truck swung back toward the right. There were no injuries.

Snyderville — Mary Kozak, 28, Scranton, suffered a skull fracture and head and face cuts when the car in which she was riding overturned near here Saturday on Route 12.

The girl was taken to Monroe County General hospital, where her condition was reported "fair." Driver of the car was Peter Bellack, 25, Scranton. He was uninjured.

Stroudsburg State police said Bellack was driving south on Route 12 near Snyderville when his wheel hit a curb. The car went out of control and turned over.

Tannersville — A car pulling onto Route 611 from the shoulder of the highway was struck by a south-bound auto here Saturday at 11:25 a.m.

The first car, driven by Joseph Bellotti, 39, New York, N. Y., had been parked. The other vehicle was operated by Fred Winans, 23, Avoca, Pa. Damages totalled $250, Stroudsburg State police said.

Minisink Hills — A 7-year-old child was injured when she walked into the side of a moving car on Legislative Road 450-11 at 10:40 a.m. Sunday.

Stroudsburg State police said she was taken to Monroe County General hospital by the driver, Albert Gladen, 69, of Shawnee-on-Delaware.

Stroudsburg — Only Labor Day weekend traffic accident reported here was a minor collision on Main St. at 6:35 p.m. Monday.

Stroudsburg police said Fred Christman, 806 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, was backing his car out of a parking space in front of Sylvester's Jewelry store.

It was struck by the west-bound car of D. G. Hoffner, 84, of Lehigh. There were no injuries. Police estimated damages at $100.

Portland — Two women were injured in an accident near here on Route 611 at 5:15 p.m. Monday.

They were Annette Kodaline, 27, Rochester, N.Y., left knee cuts and bruises; and Mary Guardia, 41, of Rochester, cuts on the face, forehead, knees, and bruised right ribs. Both women were treated at the Monroe County General hospital.

Police Chief Jesse Felker said the accident was about two miles north of the borough. Miss Kodaline, the driver, lost control of her car, Felker said. It went off the highway, veered back on and struck a car coming in the opposite direction.

The other auto was driven by James O. Byrne, York, Pa. Two passengers in the Byrne car were injured slightly and treated by a Portland physician.

Mount Bethel — Injuries to two men resulted when a car ran head-on into a parked auto on Route 611 at 3:15 a.m. here Sunday. Both cars were demolished.

Driver was Elmer Hess, Bangor RD2, going south. The injured were Fred Ott, Bangor RD2, and Robert Lonlon, member of the army air force.

Both were passengers in the Hess car. They were released after treatment at Monroe County General hospital.

The parked car was owned by George Lupte, Allentown.

Defense Bond Campaign In Motion

Grand Rapids, Mich., (AP) — A defense bond selling campaign, aimed at building "power for peace," swung into nation-wide action in Labor Day ceremonies here last night.

The drive, hailed as the most intensive since World War II, was opened by President Truman speaking by radio from San Francisco, and Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder in Grand Rapids.

Other high military, government and labor officials also were present for the ceremonies here starting the campaign. It will run through October 27.

Referring to Communist expansion, Mr. Truman said that this "is what makes it so vital that we build our defenses and build them fast."

Farmhand Charged With Attempted Murder

Blakeslee — Charged with attempted murder, James Bryson, 25, of this borough, was held in Monroe county jail yesterday for hearing before the county grand jury.

Justice of the Peace Ralph Dunlap, Pocono Lake, said Bryson stabbed Zaek Hall, 29, also of Blakeslee, three times in the back.

Hall was reported under a doctor's care, but was not hospitalized.

Justice Dunlap said the stabbing occurred about 11 p.m. Friday on a Blakeslee farm where both men were employed picking fruits and vegetables.

The men were transient workers from Florida. Justice Dunlap said he thought they had known each other in Florida before coming to Pennsylvania several months ago.

He said the two "didn't say much" about the argument which preceded the stabbing.

Bryson was arrested by Pocono Lake Constable Thomas Christie. He pleaded innocent at the preliminary hearing Saturday before Justice Dunlap.

Union Church Sets New Time For Worship

Henryville — Council of Administration of Pocono Union Church decided recently to start worship services at 11 a.m. September 16 and continue this policy throughout the winter.

A Harvest Home service was scheduled for September 9 at 7 p.m. Holy Communion will be observed October 7 at 11 a.m. Date for rally day was set at September 30.

The group agreed on October 28 as home coming day with services at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. The 90th anniversary of the founding of the church will be combined with this service.

The Rev. C. L. Hertzog will arrange for the speaker.

Named to handle details of the home coming were Mrs. Frank Sackler, Mrs. Martha Henry, Sallie Henry, Mrs. Paul Barry and Richard Post. A meeting of this group is scheduled for the near future to discuss plans.

Approval was given to seek two Gideons as speakers during Rev. Hertzog's vacation.

Record-Breaking Attendance Highlights Annual Welsh Day Festivities In Bangor

Bangor — Featured by a record-breaking attendance and an outstanding program, the annual two-day Welsh day fete here on Saturday and Sunday was closed out yesterday with scores of visitors leaving for their homes with full sanction for another fete next year.

Inclement weather forced the Saturday afternoon and Sunday programs, scheduled for the Lutheran grove, to be moved to Bangor High school auditorium.

The Rev. Elias Jones of Portland Baptist church, led the devotions at the opening program. A surprise feature of this program was two Welsh flute selections by Arthur Morgan, II, of Scranton and a vocal duet by William Thomas of Balston Lake, N. Y., and Herbert Pryce, of Schenectady, N.Y.

Soloists were Madame Katie Jones of Llanberris, North Wales, the Misses Blodwen Wynn Evans, New York City, Anna Salyerds, Washington state, Mary Alice Williams, Utica, N.Y., Richard children, former Portlanders, called on Mr. and Mrs. Horace Rusling and daughters during the week.

Mrs. Ralph Staiger visited her husband, Ralph Staiger, a patient at the General Hospital, at East Stroudsburg, on Saturday, and found his condition much improved. Mr. Staiger has been a patient at the hospital for the past three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pensyl are spending the week at Ocean City, N. J.

David Linaberry, of Bethlehem, spent a day the past week with his mother, Mrs. Laura Linaberry, on Main Street.

Mrs. Addis Sutton is spending the week-end and holiday with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Jones, Wales, Mrs. Gorman Roof, Catasaun, William Thomas and Harry Morgan, Pittston. Miss Lillian Jones, Wind Gap, gave two recitations at the opening program.

Speaking at the night program were Frank E. Shumann, president of Lehigh Foundries, Inc., J. H. Jones, Thomas Williams, of New York City, the Rev. Reese T. Williams of Utica, N.Y., William Humphreys and Miss Margaret Owens, of Fairhaven, N.Y. Morris Price, ex-trainmaster of the Lackawanna Railroad in Bangor was introduced.

Griffith Davis of Portland sang an old Welsh lullaby at the night program. The Wyoming chorus and quartet appeared.

The Rev. Mr. Williams conducted a Welsh service in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

His sermon theme, was "Building an Altar." Madame Jones was soloist accompanied by Miss Catherine Williams.

At the afternoon service, the Rev. Philip E. Rimel, of Mackey Memorial Baptist church, read the Scripture and the Rev. John C. Brunnbach offered prayer. The Rev. Elan Davies, of Llandudno, North Wales, preached the sermon: "Go Out and Take the Land." He pointed out that taking the land is an individual job, a job that has dangers and a job that is rewarded. Miss Salyerds was soloist.

The 21st annual fete sponsored by the Welsh Day Association, Inc., concluded with a grand musical festival or gylfafta ganu with Edward T. Rees, of Philadelphia, conductor, and Miss Williams as accompanist. The Rev. Richard D. Rettew, of the Presbyterian church, led devotions.

Officers of the association are Gordon Roberts, president; David Humphreys, Edelmans, Ellis Roberts, Richard E. Werner, vice presidents; John Foulkes, secretary; Stanford T. Jones, Henry Williams, assistant; Richard Werner, treasurer; Richard R. Hughes, Francis Doll, assistant and Thomas R. Hughes and Mr. Roberts, property custodians. Miss Doris Dippre Weds Navy Man At Grace Church

Miss Doris Henrietta Dippre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew P. Dippre, of 24 South Kistler St., East Stroudsburg, became the bride of Robert Charles Boehmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Boehmer, of Nuremberg, at 8 o'clock Saturday night before the candle-lit altar of Grace Evangelical Lutheran church, East Stroudsburg.

Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace church pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The altar was graced with bouquets of white roses, and the chancel with bouquets of summer flowers. Miss Leila Bunell presided at the console of the organ, and Miss Connie Beers was soloist. She sang "I Love Thee, Dear" and "Because" prior to the wedding, and "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte, as the bridal couple knelt on the satin pillow before the altar during the wedding prayers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace over satin, with its tight fitting bodice which featured a standing collar and long sleeves, ending in points over her hands. The full skirt was scalloped at the hemline, and her finger-tip veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls set in orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book which was surmounted by a corsage of white roses tied in white streamers.

Miss Beverly Slutter Bride Of Lewis W. Scheller Jr. In Season's Biggest Wedding

The Stroudsburg Methodist church was filled to overflowing with friends spreading into the balcony and Sunday school rooms for the season's biggest wedding on Saturday afternoon at 2, when Miss Beverly Ann Slutter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garner R. Slutter, of 732 Bryant St., became the bride of Lewis Walter Scheller Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. Scheller, of 215 Wallace St.

Rev. Walter S. Johnston, pastor, was assisted in the double-ring ceremony by Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlson, of St. John's Lutheran church. He served wedding communion to the young couple after the marriage ceremony. Joy Sayers, of York, was soloist, and sang "Through the Years," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer" during the wedding prayers. Albert J. Fregans was organist.

The whole front of the church was banked with palms and sabbath ferns, filling both choir lofts and lifting to a pinnacle between the two stained glass windows. Two tall bouquets of white gladiolas and double fourteen-branch candelabra were set on either side of the altar.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of receipt-point imported Chantilly lace, with a sheer yoke trimmed with seed pearls and rhinestones attached to a tight-fitting bodice with long sleeves, which ended in points over the hands. Her full skirt swept to a long train, and her finger-tip veil of French imported illusion with scalloped edges was attached to a bonnet of rosepoint lace. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, lily of the valley and orchids.

Miss Jeanne C. Slutter as her sister's maid-of-honor, was dressed in a lilac gown of net, whose strapless shirred bodice of nylon net was attached to a full double skirt of net, with a front drape. She wore a matching stole and picture hat, with matching sprigs of flowers on drape, stole and hat.

The bridesmaids and flower girl all wore identical gowns in pastel shades. Miss Nancy Peters was in yellow; Miss Joan Stofflet in green; Miss Betty Decker in pink and Mrs. Audrey Wilkins in blue, while the flower girl, Sharon Marie Hennigan, a cousin of the bridegroom, wore a miniature of the bridesmaid's gowns in white with lilac. They all carried cascade bouquets of mixed flowers. William R. Thomas, of 713 Brown Street, was best man, and the ushers included Earl Warner, Russell Scheller, Daniel Warner, of Stroudsburg; Leon Sachs, of Lancaster, and William Sayers, of York. The ring-bearer, Charles Schesser, cousin of the bridegroom, wore a miniature of the men's formal wedding attire.

The bride's mother wore a navy sheer gown with velvet accessories and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a royal blue sheer gown with matching accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Following the ceremony, a reception and wedding supper for 545 guests was held at the Elks club in East Stroudsburg, where the bride's table was decorated with greens and cut flowers, and all the tables, both upstairs and down, were decorated with fresh flowers.

Bill Diehl's orchestra played for the reception, and the dancing opened by the bride and bridegroom.

For traveling, the bride chose an orchid suit with black velvet accessories and an orchid corsage. After they return from a wedding trip to Florida and the southern states, Mr. and Mrs. Scheller will be at home to their friends in their apartment at 510 Main St., Stroudsburg.

Miss Slutter, who was graduated from Stroudsburg High school in 1949, is an employee of the Bell Telephone Co. Mr. Scheller was also graduated from Stroudsburg High school, in the class of 1943 and is now a senior at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Sciences, Philadelphia.

Miss Mary Paul, Faculty Member, Weds B. Neumann

Mechanicsburg—Miss Mary Elizabeth Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Heikes Paul, of 712 S. Market St., Mechanicsburg, became the bride of Bern Friedrich Neumann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Neumann, of Paramus, N. J., in a summer wedding ceremony performed Saturday afternoon, Sept. 1, in St. Luke's Episcopal church, Mechanicsburg, with the Rev. Kenneth J. Frazer, rector, officiating.

Mrs. John Gibbel, organist of Harrisburg, presented a recital preceding the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a candlelight satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, a yoke trimmed with rosepoint lace, and a full skirt flowing into a formal train. Her finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a rosepoint lace headband and she carried a white orchid with a stephanotis on a white prayerbook.

Her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Robert Hinks, of Philadelphia, and her maid of honor was Miss Marian Memory, of Mechanicsburg. They wore French blue and mauve satin gowns, respectively, with fitted jackets and their floral headbands matched their colonial bouquets of lavender pompons and yellow roses.

The bridegroom's father served as best man and the ushers were Robert Hinks, of Philadelphia, and Paul Smith, of Indiana, Pa.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony after which the couple left on a wedding trip through the south. Upon their return they will reside at Tannersville.

Mrs. Neumann is a graduate of Mechanicsburg High school and of Wooster College, Wooster, O., where she received her bachelor of arts degree in English and History. She has been teaching in the Stroudsburg High school.

Mr. Neumann received his secondary education in Germany and graduated from Ohio State College where he majored in commerce and finance. He is presently employed at the Empire Paper Box Co., Delaware Water Gap.

Dodd-Moreken Wedding Held At Netcong Church

Miss Theresa Elizabeth Moreken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Moreken, of Portland, and James Leslie Dodd, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Dodd, of 876 Scott St., Stroudsburg, were married on Saturday, September 1, at 10 a. m., at the Church in the Glen, Netcong, N. J., by Rev. Henry P. Bowen.

The church was decorated with green palms and two large standards holding white pompons, and lighted by two fourteen-candle candelabra. The first three pews on each side were decorated with small white baskets filled with white pompons with streamers of white ribbons.

The bride wore a gown of white satin, embroidered with seedpearls around the yoke and at the top of the sleeves. Her full skirt ended in a two-and-a-half yard train, and her veil of Belgian lace was held by a cloche of illusion with three strands of satin embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a white fan with a pure white orchid with streamers.

Her maid of honor, Miss Betty J. LaBarre, a college classmate, of Main street, Stroudsburg, wore a green satin gown with fitted bodice, pleated bertha collar, matching green satin mitts, and a cloche cap trimmed with fresh flowers. She carried a mull of green satin covered with varicolored flowers.

The bridesmaid, Miss Una Marie Brunner, of 71 Anaslomik St., East Stroudsburg, was the bride's "big sister" in college, and wore a gown of the same design, in gold satin, with satin mull and cap.

Russell Pierson, of East Orange, N. J., fraternity brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and George Rusk of Paterson, N. J., and Michael Moeken, of Portland, brother of the bride, were ushers.

An organ concert preceding the wedding ceremony was given by Mrs. Elsie Harbort, and the soloist was Mrs. Irene McGillick, who sang "At Dawning" and "Ave Maria" by Gounod. During the ceremony music came from the carillon tower of the church, which is situated on Lake Musconetcong.

A wedding breakfast for 100 guests was held immediately following the ceremony at Cranberry lodge which was decorated

Party Marks 51st Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Williams, of Stokes Mill road, celebrated their 51st wedding anniversary last week and on Saturday night were the guests of honor at a party given by their family at their home.

Married August 29, 1900 in Sullivan County by Rev. William Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Williams have three children, seven grandchildren and six great grandchildren. All of them were present except their grandson, Richard Martin, who is serving in the armed forces in Korea, and his daughter, Donna Lee Martin, who lives in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. Williams retired January 1, 1944, after 41 years' service on the W. B. & E. Railroad. Mrs.

Williams is employed at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Both are members of the Pilgrim Holiness church, Stroudsburg, and are very active in church affairs.

At the party in their honor, a delicious meal was served and the family all reunited.

Monroe County Included In Social Study

Monroe County spends an estimated $1,417,378.00 annually for health, welfare and recreation services according to a pamphlet being distributed by the Lehigh Valley Service Exchange. The pamphlet, which describes the clearing house function of a social service exchange, quotes the 1948 study of 29 typical American communities by national Community Chests and Councils. In each of them, $42.15 per capita was spent annually for health, welfare, and recreation services.

The Social Service Exchange is used by the agencies as a clearing house so that duplication in expenditure of these funds may be avoided. Sharing of information through the Exchange also speeds up services and helps to coordinate them for the benefit of the individuals being served as well as for the agencies.

21,155 items handled for 93 agencies during 1950 as compared to 13,991 items for 67 agencies in 1947, is cited by the pamphlet to show the increased use of the Lehigh Valley Social Service Exchange by its member agencies.

The publication is being distributed to the board members of agencies throughout the exchange area of Carbon, Lehigh, Monroe, Northampton and Pike counties, Pennsylvania, and Warren county, New Jersey. A wide gamut of agency services is included covering the child and family welfare fields, group work organizations, and the various health agencies. Among them are public, tax-supported agencies as well as Red Feather and other private or voluntarily supported agencies.

Members of the committee which prepared the pamphlet and arranged for distribution are: Dr. Charles Rominger, chairman; Mrs. Leo Achterman and John R. Wilson, Stroudsburg; Mrs. Donald Raff, Northampton; Miss Elizabeth Mack, Bethlehem; Mrs. Rodman Morgan, Mahoning Valley; and Miss Ella Siegfried, executive director of the Social Service Exchange.

Albert Transue and Miss Jerry Werkheiser had Sunday dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pellencor. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kitchen and daughter Jackie.

Mrs. Paul Barry returned home after spending several days with her husband who is employed in Morrisville. The Barrys called on Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Stettler and son Gary, former local residents who are now living in Morrisville. Mrs. Barry was shopping in Trenton, N. J. one afternoon.

Georgeanne Fritz spent several days visiting Linda and Judy Transue, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Transue.

The Harvest Home Service will be held in Pocono Union church at 7 p.m. on Sept. 9. Members and friends are urged to attend, and bring "fruits of their labor." The following Sunday, Sept. 16, morning worship will begin at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Harold Transue visited her mother, Mrs. Effie Christman on Tuesday afternoon.

On Wednesday night Mrs. Russell Barry and daughter Marian visited the former's father, William Naugle, and sisters Lucille and Mrs. Charles Stout and family of McMichael's. Mrs. Naugle is quite ill.

Local Area One Of Few In Pennsylvania Not To Establish Single Relief Work Project

Monroe County is one of 42 in the state with such a high employment factor in private industry and business that not a single relief work project has been established. The situation was disclosed yesterday in a project summary released by Department of Public Assistance.

During July state-wide work-relief employment reached the highest point since World War II. During the month 113 projects were in operation. Number of relief workers involved ranged to 490.

Of the 25 counties in which relief projects were in operation, Lackawanna rated highest with 15 projects. Allegheny had 12 with Indiana rating 10 and Somerset and Bedford nine each.

Amount of assistance worked for during the month totaled $3,552.57 in the state.

A recent amendment to the Public Assistance law broadened the relief work project program by increasing the list of sponsors to include non-profit cemetery associations, fire companies, public libraries, and similar organizations supported in whole or in part by tax money.

Another amendment to the law relieved sponsors of transporting workers to the projects unless they lived more than two and one-half miles away. The previous distance limit was one mile.

Policy of the Department of Public Assistance here is to insist that employable persons accept available private employment and thus be self-supporting in preference to relief work employment which provides only for the working out of an assistance grant at prevailing labor rates.

Youth Hostel In Program

Newfoundland — The Laanna Youth Hostel membership met at their base near here Sunday under the chairmanship of Laurence Waites, Scranton.

Plans for extensive improvements to the hostel were approved. Members joined in a clearance project during the day.

There will be a retreat of Methodist youth at the hostel next week-end. They will represent youth groups at Sterling and Hamilton.

Bags Second Plane

U.S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea CP — Col. Francis S. Gareski, of Oil City, Pa., was credited with knocking down his second MIG of the Korean war in history's longest jet battle.

The battle occurred Sunday and saw 21 F-86 Sabre jets knocking down four out of 40 Russian-made MIG-15's. It was a 30-minute fight that roared at altitudes of from seven and a half down to two miles.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

The fact that the second game of the championship playoff series in the Blue Mountain League has been postponed a full week won't add to its appeal at the box office. Each day the series is delayed reduces its interest among the people of Monroe County and the State Belt, due to the fact that high school and college football is drawing nearer each hour and the athletic interest of the people of the two localities is rapidly switching from the diamond to the gridiron, with the exception of the major leagues.

If the series is prolonged much longer, Roseto will lose even more players as at least three performers are scheduled to return to college and enter prep schools in the very near future. It seems awfully odd that the second game of the series wasn't played yesterday and if a third was necessary, why it wasn't held sometimes during the coming week. Each club must look to the gate as well as its chances of winning, if the two organizations are going to finish out of the red for the 1951 campaign, during which each team has had trouble with finances as well as the opposition.

Johnny Schiatta, center fielder for Lebanon, North Atlantic League, last year, was recently named as an outfielder on the Mid-Valley Association all-star team. Bill Gilvary, veteran pitcher with Mahanoy City, also of the NAL, in 1946 and 1947, was named as one of the hurlers on the amateur all-star contingent from the Scranton area. George Heller, former mound ace of the Carbondale Pioneer Blues, North Atlantic League, has been pitching well of late for Ottawa, of the International League, but the Giant farmhands haven't been getting any runs for the youthful right hander.

Jack Swartz, former outstanding three-letter athlete at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, opening his first season as head football coach at Carbondale's Benjamin Franklin High school, welcomed only 22 grid candidates to the first day of practice. However, the number has been increasing since that time and according to the latest reports, Jack is working with a total of 40 candidates for the first team. Jack played quarterback on the ESSTC grid machine, guard on the basketball team and second base with the baseball aggregation. Swartz also had a brief fling at pro basketball with Carbondale, an entry in the American League last season.

Three Rivers, Que., certain to finish in the cellar of the class "C" Provincial League, will force a record on John Pardo that the likeable catcher won't want to talk about in the future. It will mark the first time that Pardo has ever finished in the second division since entering professional baseball. Johnny caught with the Stroudsburg Poconos last season and with Carbondale a few campaigns prior to that in the North Atlantic circuit. Pardo also caught with Utica, Eastern League, and had a brief fling with Toronto, while the quiet receiver was still a member of the Philadelphia Phillies' farm system.

Tony Naples, who set a record in the North Atlantic League in 1946 that has never been equalled, winning 18 and losing no games, has a mark of six victories and three setbacks for Fayetteville, of the class "B" Carolina League. Naples is in the same league as George Condrick, pitcher with the Poconos in 1948 and 1949 and a winter resident of Tannersville. George is one of the big guns on the Winston-Salem, N. C. mound corps and is a member of the St. Louis Cardinals' farm system.

The North Atlantic League is scheduled to hold its important business meeting on Thursday, in Allentown. It will probably be decided at this time whether or not the class "D" circuit will return to action next season. The league was originally formed back in 1916 and operated through the 1950 campaign. However, the circuit went into hibernation during the past season, due to the national "A" international situation and the poor condition of minor league baseball throughout the nation. However, recent reports making the rounds indicate that there is pressure being exerted to return the North Atlantic League to an active status.

Johnny Sain made his first start in the American League as a winning one for the Yankees against the A's yesterday, much to the delight of the New Yorkers, but very unpopular with many other organizations in both leagues. Although the deal was apparently entirely legal, several of the National League clubs are now wondering how Sain managed to get out of the senior circuit and why the Yankees have so much good fortune in adding the right player from the other league, just when the pennant fight is at its best. Although Johnny Hopp was never a great star with the Yanks, he managed to help greatly in last season's flag dash, after coming from Pittsburgh.

Tigers Divide With Brownies

Detroit, (AP)—Fred Marsh's two-run single in the sixth inning grabbed a 3-2 win for the St. Louis Browns in the second game of a doubleheader with the Detroit Tigers yesterday. Jerry Priddy's one-run double in the thirteenth inning won the opener for the Detroiters 6-5.

Tiger relief pitcher Hal White whose marks is now 3-4, won the opener.

A crowd of 16,981 saw the Tigers come from behind to tie up the first game at 5-5, in the ninth inning on a one-run single by Wertz off relief pitcher Sam Cullen Paige.

Detroit scored the winning run off Ned Garver, who replaced Paige and took his eleventh loss as against 15 wins. With none out in the thirteenth Johnny Groth singled and Priddy doubled.

Marsh's bases-loaded single to center field, in the second game, drove in two runs after the Tigers had taken a 2-1 lead in the fourth inning on Wertz's homer and Bob Swift's one-run single.

The Brownies got only five hits off Ted Gray who went all the way to take his thirteenth loss. He has four wins.

St. Louis pushed a run over in the fourth inning when Jack Maguire walked and Mat Batts doubled.

Pitcher's Mother Dies

Leavenworth, Kas. (AP)—Mrs. Ada Lena, Dickson, 78, mother of Murry Dickson, pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates, died Sunday night.

Dickson, summoned home by the critical illness of his mother, arrived here about an hour before she died. She had been ill for a year.

Red Sox Remain In Race By Sweeping Pair From Senators

Boston (AP)—Boston's third place Red Sox remained close to the American league leaders yesterday by winning both games of a doubleheader from the Washington Senators, 3-2 in the opener and 8-4 in the second game. A Labor day crowd of 26,609 saw Mel Parnell aided by Ellis Kinder, win his sixteenth in the first game and "Chuck" Stobbs, also assisted by Kinder, gain his tenth victory.

The Sox, playing without gripped Ted Williams who missed his first game of the year, scored all their runs in the first inning

Two Champs Bow Out Of National Play

Bobby Shantz and Bob Hooper teamed up to stop the Yanks with five hits in the nightcap, topping the world champions into second place, a half game behind the Cleveland Indians, who won two from the Chicago White Sox.

Both New York runs in the nightcap scored on an error—mental and physical—by third baseman "Hank" Majestic, an ex-Yank.

That was the final of a series of weird plays by Athletics' fielders, who handed the Yanks the first game by virtue of three mental lapses. "Hank" Bauer's tenth home run, which came with one man on, provided the margin of victory.

Johnny Sain, the Yanks' pennant "insurance" made an auspicious American League debut by halting the A's on five hits in the opener to best Alex Kellner in a pitching duel.

Mental Lapse
With the Yanks ahead, 3-1, in the last of the ninth of the first game, the A's started to threaten when Ferris Fain got to first on Joe Collins' error and Elmer Valo doubled to right center. Fain was waved home on the play and was caught cold by Gerry Coleman's relay to the plate. Sain stopped the A's after that.

The A's scored first in the second inning on a double by Pete Sufer and a single by Joe Tipton after two men were out. Kellner followed with a wicked smash to third that caromed off Gil McDougald's jaw and sent him to the hospital. Five stitches were required to close the wound.

The Yanks rookie was not seriously hurt, though. He appeared as a pinch hitter in the nightcap. The Yanks moved ahead in the first game when Sain doubled over Gus Zernial's head and scored on Bauer's home run.

The final Yankee run came in the eighth on another mental lapse. Joe DiMaggio reached third on a blop double and an infield out.

When Johnny Mize bounced to Fain, he had DiMaggio trapped between home and third but Joe Tipton, trying to catch Joe as he ran back to third, threw to an unguarded base and DiMaggio scored. In the second the A's nipped starter Tom Morgan for a run in the first on a walk, a single by Fain and a double play grounder. They added two more in the fifth on a single by Joe Astroth, a boot by Coleman and successful singles by Eddie and Fain.

Relief
Shantz lost his shutout and departed from the game in the seventh, when he permitted the Yanks to fill the bases on a walk and singles by Bobby Brown and Coleman.

McDougald came in to hit for relief pitcher Bob Zuzava and batted to Majeski who tried to catch Berra at home and hit him in the back. Two runs scored.

Hooper retired eight straight batters, three on strikeouts to save the game for Shantz.

Trenton Lands Softball Title

Williamsport (AP)—The Trenton Democratic club of Baltimore, Md., retained its Central Atlantic Region Softball crown yesterday by beating Arcade Pontiac, Washington, D.C., 5-2 before a crowd of 2,200.

Women's Division
The Pottstown, Pa., Cardinalsettes captured the championship of the Women's division by turning back Garvins, Washington, D.C., defending champions, 3-0.

The winners will represent the Central Atlantic region in the softball "world series" at Detroit September 10-14.

Two Games Scheduled

Two games are on tap tonight for the Monroe County Softball League, both listed for 6:15. Kulb's Foundry and the Eagles clash at the East Stroudsburg Junior High school field, while Line Material and Union Printers meet at the East Stroudsburg playground.

No Cross-Country

Ossining, N.Y. (AP)—Sing Sing prison's 1,700 inmates held their annual track meet yesterday.

The program listed all regular field and track events—except a cross-country race.

Red Sox Remain In Race By Sweeping Pair From Senators

Boston (AP)—Boston's third place Red Sox remained close to the American league leaders yesterday by winning both games of a doubleheader from the Washington Senators, 3-2 in the opener and 8-4 in the second game. A Labor day crowd of 26,609 saw Mel Parnell aided by Ellis Kinder, win his sixteenth in the first game and "Chuck" Stobbs, also assisted by Kinder, gain his tenth victory.

The Sox, playing without gripped Ted Williams who missed his first game of the year, scored all their runs in the first inning of the opener. Johnny Pesky walked and scored on Bob Doerr's double before Walt Dropo batted his seventh homer of the year.

The clubs were tied 1-1 until the third inning of the nightcap when the Sox scored twice after two were out. The Bostonians added three in the sixth and another pair in the seventh when Aaron Robinson hit his second homer of the season.

Open Scoring
The Senators opened the scoring in the second game with a run in the first inning on Gil Coan's two out single to left and Forest Hills, N.Y. (AP)—It was trail's end for two champions yesterday as Dick Savitt, limping painfully on an infected leg, and Art Larsen, bewildered by an opponent who showed him no mercy, were blown out of the semi-final round of the National Tennis championships to the dismay of a capacity crowd of 15,000.

Savitt, holder of the Wimbledon and Australian championships, was able to offer only a feeble defense against an inspired Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, who ended Dick's dream of world domination with a 6-0, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 trouncing. Unable to cover the court properly to lash out with his usual power, the big man from Orange, N.J., never really had a chance.

No Chance

Larsen, the slim southpaw from San Leandro, Calif., who surprised the court world by winning the Nationals a year ago, made even a more feeble defense of his laurels as he was overwhelmed by Frank Sedgman of Australia, 6-1, 6-2, 6-0. Both contests were played in deep gloom, which exactly matched the feelings of a crowd that literally had fought for seats in the big stadium.

Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, second seeded American star, reached the women's final with a 2-6, 6-2, 6-1 win over Mrs. Jean Walker-Smith of England in the day's opening match.

Rain later in the day forced postponement of the other semi-final after Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., had won the opening set from Doris Hart of Miami, the Wimbledon champion, 6-4.

Miss Hart, who gave Miss Fry a one-sided beating in the recent Wimbledon final, looked as though she meant to give Maureen the same medicine as she ripped through the first four games. But then the 16-year-old Maureen hit a streak of tennis that had the crowd shouting and yelling and fairly massacred Doris in the next six.

In order that neither girl will have to play twice today, the women's final was moved up to tomorrow.

Chicago, (AP)—Curandero won the $159,150 Washington Park Handicap, richest mile in the history of racing, by a scant nose yesterday, with Oil Capitol second and County Delight third.

A crowd of 41,055, largest of the Chicago racing season, saw the thrilling photo finish.

Time
Curandero, owned by the fabulous King Ranch, property of Robert Kleberg, Kingsville, Texas, ran the mile in 1:34 3/5.

Yellmowntown finished fourth in the field of 19 starters. Two of Calumet Farm's trio, Wistful and All Blue, were scratched, along with Dr. Ole Nelson, which reduced the field from 22 original entries.

Curandero, with A. Gomez, of Havana, Cuba, guiding him, earned $13,950 and paid $6,60, $480 and $380 across the board. Oil Capitol returned $680 and $440 to place and show, and County Delight paid $480 to show.

Scranton Team Captures Laurels

Clementon, N. J. (AP)—Scranton swimmers took top honors yesterday at the final swimming meet of the season at Clementon Lake.

Jay Evans, who paced the Scranton Swimming Association squad, was presented a trophy for the highest individual scoring total. He won the Senior Middle Atlantic AAU 100-yard free-style race, placed second in the 100-yard backstroke title swim and third in the mile championship event.

The Association received the team trophy with 165 points, 49 better than the second place Quaker City Swimming club, Philadelphia.

Rain Postpones Playoff

Sunday's scheduled second game in the championship playoff series in the Blue Mountain League, between Pocono A. C. and Roseto A. A., was washed out by the rain. The game will now be played next Sunday.

Reading Driver Wins

Pitman, N. J. (AP)—Mel Weidner, Reading, yesterday won the 25-lap feature big race at Alcyon Speedway before 5,000 persons. Bud Powers, Philadelphia, followed Weidner across the finish line.

Other heat winners included Dick Fries of Reading.

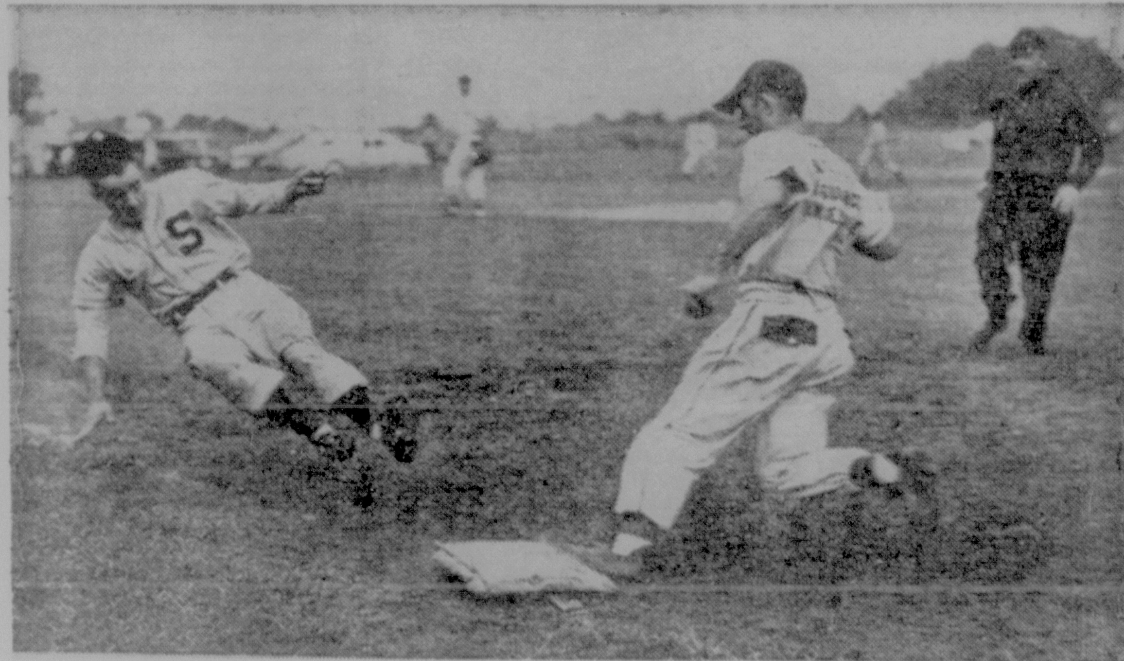

Pete Runnels and a double by Clyde Klutz chased Parnell.

Kinder gave up a two-run single to pinch hitter Mike Guerra but then made Eddie Yost hit into a game ending double play.

Kinder pitched the ninth in the second game after Stobbs was lifted for a pinch batter in the Boston eighth.

First Game

OUT—Lloyd Brong, Saylorsburg shortstop, is pictured above launching a slide into first base during yesterday's playoff for second place in the Pocono Mountains League with Analomink. However, Dave Beseker, Analomink first sacker, is shown making the putout in plenty of time. Walt Stem is the umpire in the background. Saylorsburg went on to win in 11 innings, 12-6.

Cleveland Moves Into Number One Position

Cleveland, (AP)—Cleveland's Indians swept a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox yesterday, 5 to 3 and 6 to 1, Bob Feller taking his 21st victory of the season in the opener.

Steve Gromek pitched a three-hitter to take the nightcap.

The rejuvenated Cleveland batters knocked out a dozen hits in the first encounter and nine in the second.

Cleveland got Gromek off to a five-run lead in the first inning by clouting Righthander Harry Dorish for five singles. Dale Mitchell and Easter each rapped one-run singles. Replaced Dorish and "Birdie" Tebbetts greeted him with a single, driving home Easter.

Boone scored the final run of the rally when Judson dropped a return throw from the catcher, but Tebbetts was caught between first and second on the play and was tossed out.

Judson kept the Indians scoreless from there until the eighth which Harry Simpson led off with a home run his seventh.

While Cleveland was collecting 12 hits off three White Sox pitchers and handing starter Lou Kretlow his seventh loss, Chicago was working Feller for nine hits. The Indians' righthander walked three and struck out three in eight innings, letting Mike Garcia finish the game for him. Feller was the first major leaguer to win 21 games this year. He did it on his third attempt.

The tribe's dozen hits were the best showing they had made at the plate in two weeks.

Runs
Cleveland opened the scoring in the first when Dale Mitchell, who had doubled, came home on Bobby Avilla's single.

They scored three more in the second, all charged to Kretlow, on four singles.

In the fifth inning, Russ Grimley, a young lefthander up from Montreal, walked Barney McCoskey and allowed singles by Ray Boone and Jim Hegan. Then he walked Feller, forcing in the Indians' fifth run.

The White Sox scored a pair in the third inning when Jim Busby's single drove in Nelson Fox, who had doubled and Al Zarilla, who had walked.

A double by Gus Niarhos and a single by pinch hitter Floyd Baker accounted for Chicago's other run in the sixth.

Umpire James Duffy threw Chicago Manager Paul Richards out of the first game for protesting too vigorously on Ray Coleman's ground rule double.

Eagles To Open Season

The All-Eagles Bowling league will swing into action at the George N. Kemp American Legion Post alleys on Thursday, in the opening of the 1951-52 season. Team captains this year will be Ellery Clapper, Mel Dunn, Ed Elsenerberger, Ed Knobb, Pete Rockefeller and Ike Rabenold.

Reading Driver Wins
Pitman, N. J. (AP)—Mel Weidner, Reading, yesterday won the 25-lap feature big race at Alcyon Speedway before 5,000 persons. Bud Powers, Philadelphia, followed Weidner across the finish line.

Other heat winners included Dick Fries of Reading.

Don Mueller, 24-year-old New York right fielder, who hit five home runs in two days the Dodgers, failed to make a hit in eight trips to the plate in yesterday's doubleheader.

Lands Second Place In Final Standing

Saylorsburg — Saylorsburg captured the number two position in the final standings of the Pocono Mountains League here yesterday afternoon, but only after 11 torrid innings of action with Analomink, by a 12-6 count. It took a big six-run rally in the top of the final frame to decide the game in favor of the host club.

Although the contest was played on Saylorsburg's field, Analomink acted as the home team. A flip of a coin decided the field to be used for the special playoff to decide the second best club in the standings, following a dead-heat for the number two spot at the end of the regular campaign.

The Saylorsburg club had a decided edge in the offensive portion of the game, banking out a grand total of 22 hits to six for the Analomink crew.

Jury To Investigate Boxer's Death

New York, (AP) — The district attorney's office plans to have the grand jury investigate the death of George Flores, it was learned yesterday.

At the same time, the State Athletic Commission announced it will hold an immediate public hearing to take testimony, receive and collect data, and suggest further permanent physical disabilities to boxers.

Flores, a 20-year-old, walter-weight and father of a three-weeks old boy, died at 1:30 a. m. (EDT) yesterday as a result of a brain injury suffered in a knock-out loss to Roger Donoghue in Madison Square Garden last Wednesday night.

At District Attorney Frank Hogan's office it was learned that Hogan plans to subpoena witnesses to testify before the grand jury in mid-September.

Statement

In a statement, Dr. C. B. Powell, acting chairman of the State Athletic Commission, said that a preliminary investigation of the accident revealed that every regulation of the State Athletic Commission had been complied with.

It wasn't enough to help Flores, though. The stocky youngster never came to after collapsing in his dressing room following his knock-out defeat. He had been unconscious for over 97 hours and had undergone two operations.

It was the first boxing death in New York since the death of "Sonny Boy" West from the same sort of brain injury in the St. Nicholas arena on December 21 of last year.

According to Ring Magazine, it was the eleventh boxing death in the world so far this year and the fifth in the U. S. The other four American fatalities were suffered in amateur bouts.

The autopsy report by Dr. Milton Halpern, deputy chief medical examiner, said that death was caused by a brain hemorrhage resulting from a torn blood vessel. The injury to the brain had been caused by the result of a blow which caused a clot, cutting off circulation of blood to the brain.

Cardinals Stretch Winning Habit To Seven

St. Louis, (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals extended their longest winning streak of the season to seven games and moved into third place by trouncing the Cincinnati Reds 4-1 and 7-1 yesterday before 18,086 fans. Al Brazie turned in a three-hit performance in the second game, while Max Lanier scored one-hundredth triumph of his National League career in the opener.

The triumphs credited to the veteran Cardinal pitchers—each is 36-pat—the Cardinals a full game ahead of the Boston Braves, who dropped two games to Brooklyn.

Only Hits
A double by Bob Usher and singles by Bobby Adams and Johnny Wyrostek were the only hits off Brazie, who struck out four and walked only one in gaining his fifth victory against two losses.

Lanier scattered nine hits and yielded three walks in winning his tenth game against eight defeats. The lefthander now has won five straight. Ewell Blackwell pitched six innings of the opener and was charged with his thirteenth defeat. He has won 14.

The Redbirds pushed across all of their seven runs of the second game in the fifth inning with an eight-hit surge that included a triple by Enos Slaughter and two singles by Billy Johnson. Willard Ramsdell, the starter and loser, was kayoed by Slaughter's two-run triple.

Stan Musial had two of the Cards' six hits in the opener and three singles in the nightcap, thus boosting his ten-year National league hit total to 1,800.

Dodgers Add Full Length To First Place Lead

Brooklyn, (AP) — Packed by Roy Campanella, who cracked out six consecutive hits including a pair of homers, the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday swept both ends of a doubleheader from the Boston Braves by 7-2 scores to protect their first place lead in the National League. Carl Erskine spaced 11 hits in the opener for his fifteenth triumph and rookie Clem Labine surrendered six hits in the nightcap in picking up his second straight win.

Bib Show
Campanella was the whole works in the opener. He socked a single, doubled, a grand slam homer and added his thirty-first round tripper of the year with the bases empty to hammer in five runs.

The clouting catcher, who homered in his last time at bat against the Giants Sunday, singled and doubled in his first two times at bat in the second game of his hitting streak to seven straight before he was stopped.

Pittsburgh Coach Dies

Norfolk, Va., (AP) — Funeral services will be held today for Kenneth L. Ormiston, line coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers professional football team, who died Friday one day after his forty-second birthday.

A victim of a heart attack last year, Ormiston came here several months ago to rest at the home of his wife's parents. He was an outstanding guard while an undergraduate at the University of Pittsburgh and was assistant football coach at the University of Miami, Florida, in 1958.

Veteran
After coaching at Western Reserve University in Cleveland in 1941, he entered the Army Air Forces and became a major.

Following the war, he helped coach Amherst college teams for three years and then joined the Steelers.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

TUESDAY, SEPT. 4, 1951

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Watch things carefully, especially dealing in valuable colloids. Study well weighty propositions. Be slow, but honest, loyal, selling, advising, deciding.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Clear desk, bench, home promptly of unfinished work or business. Don't worry but do plan, quietly, quickly. Be careful, accurate, keep promises. Be gentle in heart affairs.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Make up mind to be tolerant, generous in thought and deed, and same good will come your way. Irritability can get you down and cause innocent ones misfortune. Don't, please.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—The straightforward, purposeful one will come out with a heart secure now. Suggest you tone down over-enthusiasm or any desire to hold rules, laws, common sense acting. Patience.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Dull outlook in part for other than routine, music, well planned matters. Don't be afraid to ask questions. Avoid tendency to do it all your way. Be open to good advice always.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Ordinary day most likely. Rate activities according to their importance. Don't take on needless responsibilities. P.M. more promising for romance, social, family affairs.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Some opposition to plans and action today. If you have an idea, don't become infatuated with it, check with a associate, loved ones to ascertain value from others' view.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Outlook of endeavor and your characing intelligence can carry you over the hump. If you use all assets, rightly without force. Sharp observation of others' reactions is keynote; check carefully.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius)—Be the true exponent of wise desires. Plan courses with alertness to possible interference. Strive nearest home for advantage, pastures there are just as green if you look hard.

December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn)—The good things possible are never as conspicuous as the ones you. Smile, have an air about you that is friendly, never pessimistic, and you will find success, friends, fun.

January 24 to February 23 (Aquarius)—Fine outlook today. But other outlook will complete you. Make the best of every good. Get to work early and be a busy, happy, cheerful. Heart interests favored.

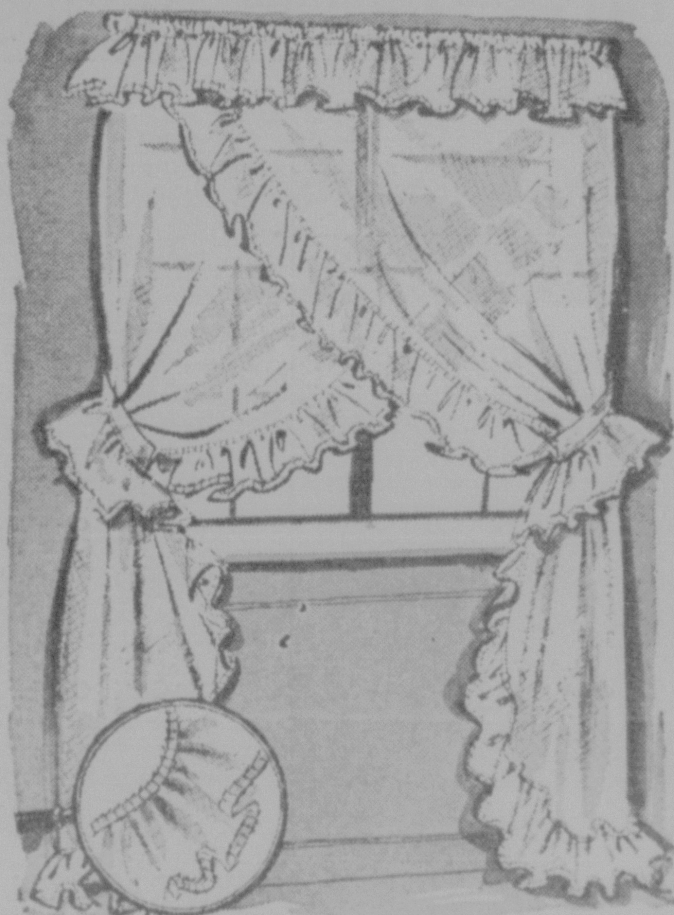

February 24 to March 23 (Pisces)—Experience taught you anything? Have you gone overboard a second time the same wrong way? Careful! Today you may be prone to repeat. Avoid needless discussions, personalities.

YOU DO IT TODAY—Intelligent, artistic, far-reaching, audacious. At times too persistent when you think you are right. Guard against taking on others' troubles to detriment of health.

Remember, humans constantly err, and often hurt the ones who have been their friends. You have a right, at least, of making a name in music, art, writing or other such profession.

Look big, think big, you are one who can handle this attitude. Be kind to your health and respect others' opinions. Don't worry. Hristidate of Pindar, Iyrie poet of Greece; Francois Rene, Vicomte de Chateaubriand, Fr. author.
